

Ingenico One

Ingenico One provides insight across all channels by offering one consolidated report, one funding, one collector, one contract and best of all, one point of contact.

Reduce Complexity

Our consolidated reports organize and present key data about your business more efficiently than individual reports from many different sources

Increase Insight

The financial and transactional reports are produced daily, to maintain a constant and up-to-date overview of your performance, including total collections, costs and remittance.

Save time and effort

The reports are available in multiple file formats, making integration into your systems fast and easy.

PROVIDE A CONSISTENT MERCHANT'S EXPERIENCE

As you expand your business online and offline, you add complexity due to the different customer journeys in your channels. Reconciliation can quickly become complex, because each new payment method you add also adds another, different reporting stream that you need to process. Ingenico One consolidates payment data from all of the different channels and payment methods into one single report, removing this complexity.

One Financial Flow

One company manages flow for both channels. You receive payments in a single funds transfer and with a single report.

One Report

We combine in-store and online transactions in one consolidated report.

One Contract

For processing online and instore payments, instead of a contract for every channel acquirer.

One Collector

One company collects the funds for both channels on your behalf.

One point of contact

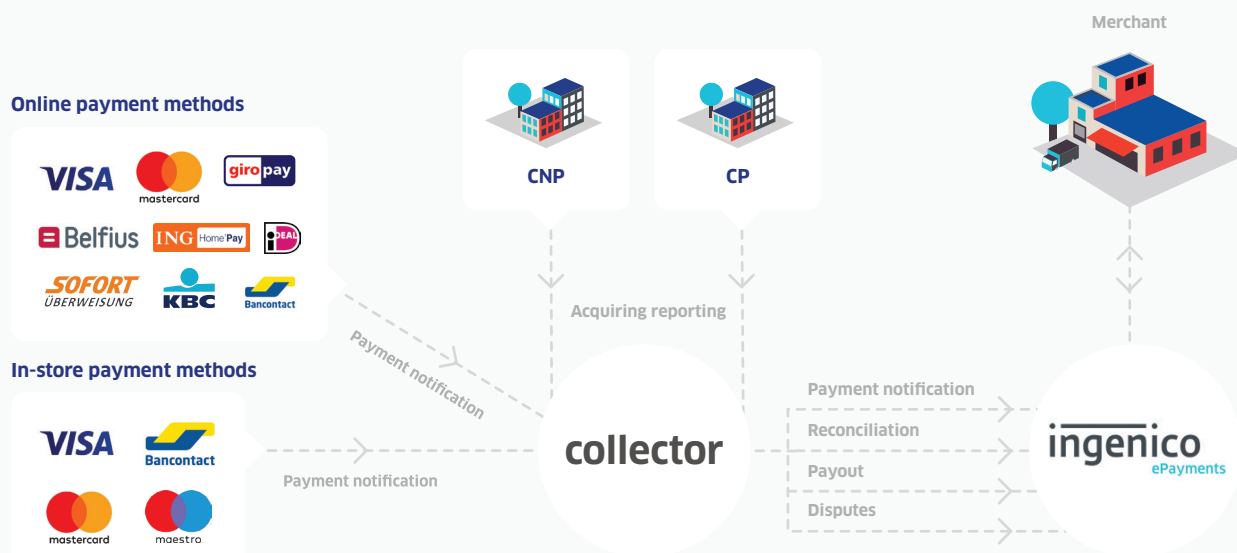

For all your payment related questions and requests.
