

Ingenico wins UK and International award at Fife Business Awards 2018

Ingenico, the global leader in seamless payments, has won the Success through UK and International Trade award at the Fife Business Awards 2018. The winners were announced at a ceremony hosted by Grant Stott, in The Glen Pavilion, Dunfermline on Friday 23rd March 2018.

The evening provides an opportunity for businesses to demonstrate excellence and gain widespread recognition for their achievements, displaying outstanding examples of how Fife's business community is driving forward the local economy.

Ingenico picked up the business prize in recognition of its successful trading outside Scotland and a staunch commitment to further growing its UK and international business. The global payment giant was able to demonstrate expertise in planning and managing an expansion strategy as well as delivering an impeccable end-to-end service for its customers from its Fife base in Dalgety Bay.

Commenting on the awards, Director of Operations, Stephen Edmiston said, "We are delighted to have been recognised by the Fife Business Awards. The business has invested heavily in our operational efficiencies to ensure our end-to-end service delivers excellently for our customers. We have shown that a mature company can innovate, operate and perform at least as well as any tech start-up whilst taking a responsible approach to our employees, our customers and our stakeholders."

Alan Mitchell, Chief Executive of the Fife Chamber of Commerce, added; "Ingenico was a worthy winner in a very competitive category. The judges were impressed with their business strategy, which is clearly bearing fruit and maintaining the company's market leadership."
