FXCM Group Chooses Ingenico to Support Secure, Seamless Payment Processing Around the Globe

Ingenico ePayments, the online and mobile commerce division of Ingenico Group, today announced that FXCM Group, LLC, a leading international provider of online foreign exchange trading, has selected Ingenico as its trusted payment processing partner, providing customers worldwide with a highly secure and simple platform to deposit and trade foreign exchange (FX).

FXCM offers global traders access to the world's largest and most liquid market by offering advanced trading tools and meeting strict financial standards and regulations. The company offers mobile trading, one-click order execution and trading from real-time charts with quick and easy deposits thanks to Ingenico's seamless payment processing. With the support of Ingenico's services, FXCM can give customers peace of mind and ensure transactions are handled in the most secure means.

"When it comes to FX trading, security is always a top concern for our clients, so when choosing a payments partner we knew we not only needed a company that has a global capacity to meet our worldwide flow, but also one that prioritizes security and customer service," said Brendan Callan, CEO at FXCM Group. "Ingenico outperforms in terms of security, and has the payment expertise and necessary tools to bring stability and ease to the payments process."

Since the first Ingenico deployment at the end of 2017, FXCM has seen an uptick in deposits. Ingenico's international capabilities have enabled FXCM to accept local currencies, benefiting customers by preventing card issuers from charging international cross-border fees.

"We are thrilled to partner with a leading FX broker that puts its clients' security and a positive user experience first," said, Joseph Leija, General Manager, North America, Global Online Business at Ingenico Group. "With Ingenico's international capabilities and ability to accept local payments, seamless platform and security tools, we're able to meet FXCM's needs now and bring significant value to its customers by supporting their expansion into alternative payment methods in the future."
